The Tressury Department Expecting Great Difficulty in Enforcing the Mandate of the Law-The Decision Received With Oniet Satisfaction by the Californians-The American Missionaries Apprehensive of Retaliation by the Peking Authorities -Notes.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The supreme ourt of the United States today affirmed the constitutionality of the Geary Chinese exclusion and registration act. The opinion was announced by Justice Gray.

Justice Gray, in announcing the judgment of the court, said that the power of this nation to restrict or to prohibit the immigration of allens into the country, or to require such aliens already in the country to remove therefrom, was a well-settled principle of international law, and was confirmed by an unbroken line of decisions constitutional limitations in the act under consideration. It was within its power to determine the regulations under which these alliens should be permitted to remain in the United States, or, failing to observe these regulations, they could be required to leave the country.

these regulations, they could be required to leave the country.

At the conclusion of the delivery of Justice Gray's opinion, Justice Brewer announced that he felt compelled to dissent from the view of the majority. He declared, in substance, that the act of 1823 was unconstitutional, and that if it were upheld there was no guarantee that similar treatment might not be accorded to other classes of our population than Chinese.

RETALIATION IN PROSPEUT.

NEW YOUR, May 15—Rev. Dr. J. S. Baidwin, for twenty-two years a Methodist missionary in China, and for nearly a quarter of a century secretary of the mission board of the Methodist Episcopal church, which has large moneyed interests in China, said yesterlay that he had positive information from dignifaries of the Chinese government and from his own Chinese missionaries that if the Chinese exclusion act is earried into effect, and Chinese are shipped from this country to China, deported simply because they are here without having taken out certificates, that Americans in China will be likewise deported from that country to the United States.

"If the law is declared constitutional by the supreme court," he said, "I anticipate that there will be a speedy exodus both of missionaries and merchants from China, missionaries and merchants from Chua, in retaliation for our sending home Chinness from the United States. Several years ago this course was urged upon the Chinese government by one of the consors, who was supported in his memorial by a number of prominent officials. Li liung Chang, at present viceroy of the Chun-Lee and Shang Tung provinces, the great statesman of China, whom General Grant so heartly admired, has been very slow to come to this view of the case and very unwilling to reliaquish his marked friendship for the United States. But there is strong ground for believing that this great statesman has at last come to the conclusion that the only way to defend the honer and dignity of his own ration, in view of these unexpected acts of oppresin view of these unexpected acts of oppressive legislation on our part, and in view of the failure of diplomatic action to produce any remedy, is to enter upon the course of retallation, and treat Americans in China as Chinese are treated in case." Justice Shiras announced the opinion and judgment of the court, in which he stated that in the Pamsylvania cases, wherein the judgment of the circuit court was in favor of the contention of the importers—that the goods in question were liable to duty as hat trimmings and not as silk or manufactures of silk—the ruling was in accordance with the judgment of the supreme court in the former cases adjudicated. The judgment of the circuit court, and that the judgment is therefore affirmed. It is estimated at the treasury department that by the loss of this case the United States will be called upon to refund from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000.

"This is the most perilous time in the relation of China to the United States that has yet been encountered. It is probable that the Method ist church will make an appeal to the Chinese authorities in case the deportation is decided upon in be-half of the Methodist missionaries now stationed in all of the provinces."

On account of the great crush which would have resulted from shanging to the opposite hall, the woman's congress was opened in the same hall in which the previous opening exercises had just been previous opening exercises had just been to change without serious danger of accidents, perhaps fatal ones. Thus the woman's congress, the initial meeting of the great series of world's fair gatherings, was held in the so-called "Hall of Columbus," instead of the "Hall of Columbus," instead of the "Hall of Washington."
